and feelings can sometimes help you understand your own.

You can use the books on their own, although self-help reading often works best with support from a health professional. Your doctor can advise you on the support that's available. There are more suggestions about useful fiction at: reading-well.org.uk/shelfhelp Reading Well has been developed by The Reading Agency in partnership with the Society of Chief Librarians and Association of Senior Children's and Education Librarians. The scheme is funded by Arts Council England and the Wellcome Trust.

WHAT IF I NEED MORE HELP?

You don't need to struggle on your own. Your GP will be able to offer help and advice. You might also find it helpful to talk things through with people you trust such as your parents, a friend or a teacher, or a school nurse or counsellor if you're still at school.

For support mycamhschoices.org has information and short films on mental health services or visit youngminds.org.uk, a national charity committed to improving the emotional wellbeing and mental health of young people. The following organisations offer support and counselling:
